Mass-Meeting Asks $900,000 School Bond Election

VOTE ON FUNDS FOR HUGE NEW RICHMOND HIGH PLANT FAVORED

Citizens, Business and Civic Leaders Voice Approval of Finance Plan

BOARD'S O. K. IS PREDICTED

Trustees Will Submit Project to People in October, Says Supt. Helms

Resolutions requesting the High School board of Richmond to call an election on a $900,000 bond issue for the construction of new buildings on Twenty-third street, north of Macdonald avenue were adopted at a mass-meeting of more than 250 prominent citizens, officials and heads of civic organizations of Richmond and outlying districts in Lincoln auditorium yesterday.

Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms said after the meeting he was of the opinion that the board would act favorably upon the recommendation, and that the election would probably be held early in October.

Although the final vote for $900,000 for school purposes was unanimous the discussion extended over a period of more than two hours and proposed amounts for the new school ranged from $850,000 to $1,225,000. Helms was of the opinion that about $875,000 would be sufficient, while Councilman John I. Collins believed that the bond issue should amount to $1,000,000.

PROVIDE FOR ENLARGEMENT.
A plaster and pasteboard model, as well as printed plans were produced at the session by Louis D. Stone, architect of Oakland. His proposal was to start a school, which when finally completed would accommodate 2400 students.

The architect showed ways whereby part of the class rooms, shop and other minor departments would be eliminated in the original structure and be added as necessity demands. The entire auditorium and gymnasium would be built in the first project.

Principal B. X. Tucker of the high school, showed figures indicating that the growth of the student body in Richmond high school since 1908 was 12 per cent annually. At the present rate of increase there will be 1500 students in the school at the end of five years. It is planned to make the

GOUGH TO GIVE STATE EVIDENCE

James W. Gough, alleged "brains" of the $800,000,000 Golett Oil merger swindle, under sentence of one to ten years for grand larceny following a plea of guilty late Thursday, is being held in the Alameda county jail on a charge of violating the state corporate securities act, pending fulfillment of his promise to testify for the state against other defendants in the fraud case. Many Richmond residents had purchased "stock" in the scheme.

Gough will escape prosecution on the 20 other counts that accompanied the grand larceny charge.

QUARTETTE FACES TRIAL.
The four against whom he will testify are Edwin R. Reeves, Mrs. Peggy Reeves, Franklin P. Davis, and C. E. Peacock. They will go on trial September 14.

Following his capture Sunday morning in Santa Cruz, Gough confessed his part in the alleged swindle. Late Thursday afternoon he was brought before Judge Fred V. Wooda, changed his plea to guilty and accepted sentence. He was represented by State Senator Charles Lyons of Los Angeles and Attorney Frank Carr.

Eleven counts of grand larceny and three under the corporate securities act were dismissed by Judge Wood under motion of Assistant District Attorney Wade Snook. Three grand larceny charges and three for the corporate securities act were dismissed yesterday by Judge L. S. (Continued on Page 8)

Hope for Lost Flagplane, Crew of 5 Men Vanishing

(By Universal Service.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Genuine alarm was being felt for the safety of the crew of the PN-9 No. 1 here late tonight.

The third night of the search with destroyers and submarines participating was well on its way—yet no trace had been found of the missing plane which late Tuesday roared over the U. S. S. Aroostook, 1800 miles from San Francisco, low in gas, yet being pressed forward by Commander John Rodgers in an attempt to reach the U. S. S. Tanager, the next guard ship in the line of flight.

The last cryptic message from the flagplane had an ominous sound:

"Gas all gone. Think it impossible to get in."

More than 55 hours has passed since the Aroostook and the Tanager were ordered to proceed at full speed toward the spot where the flagplane was reported to have been forced down.

Nothing has yet been sighted—not even a bit of wreckage.

In spite of the fact that the searching vessels have covered a great area, navy officials were still optimistic concerning the safety of the plane's crew.

"The plane is small, the ocean big," they quote.

LOVE RIVAL MAY BE MURDERER OF MISS FERGUSON NEW FIND SHOWS

Skull Found With Feminine Coat In Water Near Bay Farm Island

VICTIM BUTCHERED ALIVE

Jaw Taken From Tule Fits Newly Discovered Parts, Says Criminologist

The murder of Miss Bessie Ferguson, blonde beauty victim of the El Cerrito tule swamp murder mystery, may have been perpetrated by a woman jealous of the Oakland girl's conquests in love.

This was the theory advanced by police today following the finding of a portion of the human skull near Bay Farm Island bridge, Alameda, by a bridge tender. The skull fragment was declared by Dr. E. O. Heinrich of Berkeley to fit perfectly with the jawbones found in the El Cerrito swamp and identified as those of Bessie Ferguson.

That the murderer of Miss Ferguson was a woman is indicated by the discovery of a woman's coat in the sand and mud nearby where the skull was found, police officers said today.

Following announcement by Dr. E. O. Heinrich that the sand found on the pieces of scalp picked up in the El Cerrito tules was similar to that at Alviso, Sheriff R. R. Veale of Contra Costa county today went to Alviso to conduct a personal investigation.

Monster Airship Torn Apart By Storm; Lack of Weather Reports Blamed

BROKEN IN THREE SECTIONS

Naval Flying Service Is Hit In Wilbur Statement Pointing Other Catastrophes

(By Universal Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, Sept. 3.—The bodies of fourteen airmen and the hulk of the ill-fated navy dirigible Shenandoah tonight bore evidence of the most recent disaster of the air.

The official list of dead as compiled late today was definitely set at fourteen.

Government officials, headed by Major H. W. Cook of Fort Hayes, Columbus, tonight began an investigation into the catastrophe.

The monster of the air was sailing on its westward journey shortly before 6 o'clock this morning when it ran into the storm and was whipped around sideways by the wind.

The ship was lowered in an effort to evade the heavy storm and came near the ground, according to navy officials today. The low-hanging gondolas were caught fast in the trees, while the ship retained a rate of speed of 60 miles an hour, tearing the motor out of the giant dirigible.

Officials expressed their belief that the airship's officers were unable to sight land in the storm and dark.

After striking the trees the bag sank lower and until it dragged along the top of a high hill. The big ship was divided into three parts—the gondola and part of the motor being left near the farmhouse, when the craft first struck, a section of the bag being left a quarter of a mile further on and still another section (Continued on Page 8)

FAVORS ITS REPEAL

The republican editors of Indiana at their mid-summer outing placed themselves squarely on record as favoring the repeal of the publicity clause of the income tax law and pledged the members of their association against printing the figures

This is the opening gun of a fight that will be waged in congress to do away with this silly and annoying feature of the income tax law. A feature that has benefited no one. A clause in the law that has afforded, however, comfort to curiosity seekers and pryers into other people's business.

It will be recalled that President Coolidge in his message to congress in speaking of this provision of the law said:

"When I approved the present tax law, I stated publicly that I did so in spite of certain provisions which I believe unwise and harmful. One of the most glaring of these was the making public of the amounts assessed against different income tax-payers. Although that damage has now been done, I believe its continuation to be detrimental to the public welfare and bound to decrease public revenue so that it ought to be repealed."

The repeal of this portion of the present tax law will no doubt be fought by some of the democrats, some of the radicals, and perhaps a few republicans, but the great mass of the legislators of the country realize that no good has resulted from the passage of that portion of the law but on the contrary it has permitted a snooping into other people's affairs by some who have sinister motives and others who are actuated from mere curiosity. With very few exceptions the majority of people who make out income tax returns are honest and to have their private affairs become public property is un-American to say the least.

Square Toed Shoes Are Among the Novelties Offered By The Boot-makers.

A CERTAIN well-known portrait painter insists that the only correct type of shoe for a woman to wear is one with a pointed toe. It does to the foot what slightly pointed finger nails do to the fingers, it accentuates the slender, tapering lines of these extremities and thereby makes them look more delicate, more aristocratic. These are not his exact words, but just the gist of his argument, and he could probably make you see as he does that his theory about pointed toes is based upon the soundest artistic foundation.

To some other observers the shape of the toes of a woman's shoes seems to be more a matter of fashion than anything else, and the natural fondness for variety to be the factor that underlies the changing styles in the lasts of shoes. During a number of years in Europe, shortly before the discovery of America, men wore such extravagantly long toes to their shoes that it was difficult not to stumble over them. Rich men wore these points a foot long and princes had them two feet long and princes had them two feet and sometimes had to be turned up and tied about the legs to facilitate walking. Then quite suddenly there was a right-about-face of fashion and shoes became 'as absurdly broad at the toes as they were previously peaked or pointed.' These new shoes were called 'duck bills.' And these broad-toed shoes we all associate with the costumery of the days of Shakespeare and Queen Elizabeth in England, and Henry IV and Catherine de Medici in France.

And so goes the history of shoe fashions. Within the past generation French and American shoe fashions seem to be playing a game of hide and seek. Back in 1910 American women wore rounded points while French women wore pointed shoes of great length. Then just as American women had taken up with the French long-pointed shoe the French gradually adopted a rounded, short-vamped shoe, which Americans resisted for some time. Just as they finally adopted this comfortable style—adapted somewhat to American needs—many smart French women took to the rather pointed last again.

And now from France comes word that fashionable women over there are looking with favor on square-toed, slippers which it has pleased the shoemakers to make recently. Shoes of this type were worn by French elegants some time in the eighteenth century, and again in the last century narrow vamped shoes ending in small square toes were affected by both men and women.

And now one of the smartest American shoe dealers says that Paris is sending over very pointed toes for fall—long pointed toes that remind you of the exaggerated points of the middle-ages.

These imported shoes show the new square toes and a novel sort of pointed toes. At the top is a slipper of blonde leather, below it a boudoir slipper of brocade applique with black velvet. Both heel and toe of this are square. Next comes a slipper of beige kid with band of brown suede and at the bottom a pointed slipper of gray suede and black patent leather.

THE LIMITED MAIL By ELMER EVANCE

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. "THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a dramatization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
Bob Wilson, freight engineer, has just received orders to take out the Limited Mail that night. Jane, whom he had left years before, has suddenly appeared at the birthday party he is attending, demanding that he "come across." Caroline Dale, with whom both Bob and Jim Fowler are in love, is mystified. Bob, driving his engine, drops his watch to the cab floor as the train begins the ascent to a pass. He leaps to recover it at the instant a station operator throws the signal tower light from green to red.

A soft oath over the fractured crystal of his watch changed to a whisper of love, melded into a smile of devotion, as Bob met the smiling eyes of the photograph turned up to him from the floor. He covertly touched the pictured likeness of Caroline to his lips, glancing down first to make sure that the fireman was busy with his gauges and his poker rod and hot watching him.

Then he returned both picture and damaged watch to his pocket, and leaned out to meet the cool rush of the night air against his cheeks once more. The Rise Ravine station had dropped two hundred yards behind ere now; ahead of him was only the dreary way of black miles that would require all his alert skill to get over in the technical style and speed that a crack flyer like the Limited should. Back in the station, though Bob could not know it, a terrified agent stood on the platform watching the tail-lights of the Limited disappear, upgrade, shivering and sobbing.

"My God, he ran right past the red light—and me turning it against him a full quarter of a mile before he got here. Nothing can save the Limited now."

Bob gave up, however, only when the flames licked close to Bobby, who was screaming in fear and grief. "Kiss your Daddy Jim!" Bob choked, holding the child down until his lips brushed the still warm cheeks of his father. Then Bob bent over and kissed him, too, while hot tears fell from his eyes upon the face of his friend. He had to crawl away now, to save his own life and that of Bobby. When he got clear again of the wreckage he was in a daze of grief for his friend; of terror for the extent of the disaster for which, as driver, he was responsible, to a less or greater extent he did not care. The crushing truth was that he had failed his trust—and at what a cost. Hardly knowing or caring what he was doing, Bob seized Bobby up into his arms and staggered off into the night with him—into the wild and barren mountain-side country, away from the screams and groans of the maimed and frightened in the tangled, burning monument to his moral unfaithfulness to duty.

CHAPTER IX

There have been, in the long and oftentimes honorable history of beds and bedmates, surprisingly odd bed fellows: dukes and beggarmaids, prelates and—but then, there is little emphasis in a mere nibble of an inexhaustible cake. Historic instances form the exception to the rule; the case of Caroline and Jane form an exception to the exception. Because, in any serious phase of life, there never were more intimate bedfellows than these two who were total strangers to each other—intimate, that is, in a sense of not having a single emotional secret from one another; in baring with the eyes of sex instinct through the defensive armor of each other's soul; in trying to appear as if they did not know full well that their spirits were naked, one to the other. Experience gave Jane no advantage in this, for through the medium of half a dozen words and a night together it was given to Mary to read Salome.

To begin with, Jane wore chignon pajamas while Caroline wore a plain and simple nightgown. Upon awakening that morning following the party, Jane ascertained, by a slight turn of her head, that her bedmate was awake. They exchanged frosty good-mornings. Then Jane gave herself up to a voluptuary's animal luxuriating in the yielding deliciousness of the feather bed—that locally considered barbaric and outlandish furnishing introduced here in the spare West, by the pioneering Widow O'Leary.

It did not take Jane long to discover in the morning light something on a high shelf that she had overlooked in the gaslight of the night—that was, a photograph of Bob in obvious and significant prominence. Jane whet her rapier on the discovery.

Vaudeville Show Features Big Rebekah Meeting

A business meeting, a vaudeville show, a social time with a banquet was the order of the evening for the Richmond Rebekahs and their friends in Richmond hall last night. The business session was closed as quickly as possible so the social end of the evening could be started.

Immediately after the opening of the doors of the "theatre" the crowds of friends flowed in until the hall was well filled. The vaudeville was entitled "The Old Maid's Convention". It was presented by a company of "artists" from Albany, who came to Richmond out of courtesy to the local lodge.

Their production proved to be excellent.

Auxiliary Stages Party for Vets

Honor Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars were entertained in Memorial hall last night at a "Salamagundy" party given by the Ladies Auxiliary to the post.

The evening's entertainment consisted of a large number of games, a short program and a banquet. The games all combined to carry out the meaning of the name of the party. The hall was well filled with veterans and members of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Elizabeth DeGregorio rendered two vocal solos, "Moonlight and Roses" and "I Wonder What's Become of Sally," accompanied by Miss Mary DeGregorio at the piano.

"Just a Kiss," "You're Cheatin' On Me" and "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight," were offered vocally by Mrs. Keana of San Francisco with Mrs. Carlson at the piano.

The banquet was served under the charge of Mrs. Bradley, while Mrs. DeGregorio, Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Armstrong took charge of the social end of the evening's program.

Extremely humorous and kept the house in an uproar of laughter from start to finish.

Mrs. Billie Kitchen, noble grand who presided over the business meeting, also headed the committee in charge of the social end of the evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Cobine and Mrs. Paige.

IN LEAD ROLES AT CALIFORNIA

JACK HOLT AND BILLIE DOVE IN ZANE GREY'S "WILD HORSE MESA," A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

JACK HOLT IN ZANE GRAY PLAY

One first fight that called for no rehearsing because both actors agreed to "let it go," has just been put on the screen.

During the filming of "Wild Horse Mesa," which comes to the screen of the California theatre today and tomorrow, in which Jack Holt plays the leading role and George Magrill one of the "heavy" parts, director George B. Seitz was confronted with the necessity of staging a desperate battle between these two players that called for a real knockdown and drag-out affair. It is pretty and generally agreed that the most difficult piece of direction is to put on a screen scrap that will have all the semblance of the real thing.

But in this particular instance the director had nothing to worry about. Both players readily agreed not to hold their punches and to waive all defense rules. Holt is a skilled boxer and loves to "mix it"; Magrill during the World War won the light heavyweight championship of the fleet.

FILM CENTERED ON FRECKLED JUVENILE

All the boyish tricks and pranks that we love so much to see in our own boys are admirably portrayed by Wesley Barry, the young, freckle-faced star, in his new picture, "The Printer's Devil," which will be shown at the Wesley Methodist church Friday evening, September 4, as the regular family night program.

With an admirable supporting cast, including Harry Myers, who played the wealthy young city man thrown upon his own resources; Katherine McGuire, as the beautiful young daughter of a small-town banker; George Pierce, her father; and Louis King, Ray Cannon, Mary Halter and Harry Rottenburg, the story reveals how a simple fun-loving boy, working as a printer's devil on the village newspaper, brings about the happy conclusion to a story of petty cheating and intrigue on one side, and honest open-hearted dealing and love on the other.

The story was especially written for Wesley Barry by Julien Josephson. It is a Warner Brothers' classic of the screen.

The program will begin at 7:45 with community singing.

Claude Gillingwater, who leaped to instant fame through his impersonation of the crusty lord in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and as the embittered captain in "My Boy" in which Jackie Coogan is starred; plays an important role in "Fools First" Marshal Neilan's latest production, which is coming to the Richmond theatre today for a two day engagement as an Association First National attraction.

ular of leading women; Richard Dix, who has won the hearts of many picture-goers; Raymond Griffith, Geo. Seigman, Helen Lynch, Shannon Day, George Drongold, Leo White and Harold Goodwin.

"Fools First" describes the operations of a gang of vegmen. Tommy Frazer is an ex-officio member of the band, but takes no part in its activities. Eventually, environment has its effect and he commits a crime but a girl enters into his life—and following a dramatic event Tommy finds happiness and love.

Other features on the same program include the ninth thrilling chapter of "Days of '49" featuring Neva Gerber and Edmund Cobb; "Why Hesitate" a Neal Burns comedy.

MRS. HENSELL HOSTESS TODAY TO W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Lawrence Hensell will be hostess to members of the West Side Women's Christian Temperance Union at a meeting this afternoon at her home, 419 Thirty-third street.

When the time came for the fight Magrill told Holt to put everything he had into his swings and depend upon him to block the blows in his own way. This idea was made to order for Holt who did let them go with a vengeance and was still going strong long after director Seitz had ordered "cut."

The net result is one of the most terrific film fights ever made—just one of the many high spots in a picture chockful of thrills. A mad stampede of five thousand wild horses is the spectacular climax in this picture of Zane Grey's latest story.

Other features on the same program include "Our Gang" in their latest laugh riot "Mary, Queen of Tots," "International News," Larry Canelo at the organ.

MISSOURI CLUB TO BE GUESTS OF MRS. WOOD

Mrs. W. D. Wood will entertain members of the Missouri club at a meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock, at her home, 325 Bissell avenue.

England May Give Up Gibraltar for African Air Base

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, Sept. 3.—Shall Great Britain give up the Rock of Gibraltar?

The question—inconceivable a short time ago—has now become reasonable in view of the visit of Major-General E. B. Ashmore and Air Vice-Marshal J. M. Steele to the historic rock. They made the trip in order to investigate the possibilities of its aerial defense, and it is understood they themselves have raised the point whether, assuming that Spain were willing, Great Britain should not surrender Gibraltar in exchange for Ceuta on the African shore of the Straits.

Since the Mediterranean has replaced the North Sea as the center of gravity for the British navy the matter has become crucial. It is argued that modern weapons greatly discount the value of Gibraltar as a fortress and as a secure base for the British fleet.

Those experts who declare that Gibraltar is out of date point to the indisputable fact that modern howitzers firing from the Spanish mainland could prevent ships entering the harbor.

Further, space is so restricted that taking-off and landing by aeroplanes are difficult, and the establishment of an effective aircraft base is said to be almost impossible. Finally, these experts assert, if sea communications were for any reason interrupted and at the same time Gibraltar was denied supplies from Spain, its resources could not maintain the garrison for long.

Ceuta, say the experts, provided a sufficient hinterland were included, would offer more favorable conditions for defense in time of war. There would be more room for maneuvering the mobile elements of its military garrison; aircraft defenses could be provided; its approach by land would be a difficult matter for an army of any size owing to the natural

Garfinkle's Fall Opening Launched

The show windows of Garfinkle's, Inc., at 623 Macdonald avenue, have taken on the attractive colorings of autumn. The store has inaugurated its fall opening.

In the center of the main window plays a glistening fountain in a bowl of vines adorned with large bunches of ripening grapes. On the green grass on the floor of the garden walk ladies attired in the latest fall dresses, coats, hats, shoes, stockings and furs, and carrying the most approved bags. Colored lights play over the whole window, adding the tints natural to autumn scenes.

The approach of fall is more clearly seen in the displays of men's wear in the side windows. There will be seen felt hats, light fall overcoats, scarfs and suits.

difficulties of the surrounding country, and it could remain independent of supplies from overseas for a greater length of time.

Proponents of the plan argue against the scheme of the grounds of the heavy expense and considerable delay that would be involved in converting the harbor at Ceuta into a suitable naval base. In view of the huge sums spent at Gibraltar in the past, and the urgent need for national economy this view undoubtedly carries great weight.

There is also a sentimental argument. Gibraltar has been regarded as a vital British possession ever since Admiral Sir George Rooke, with Dutch aid, captured it in 1704. Its defense by Sir George Elliot in the great siege from 1779 to 1783 is one of the outstanding events in British history, and the story of how the chief attack from the sea was defeated by red-hot shot is still told and re-told throughout Britain. To abandon a fortress with such priceless associations would unquestionably cause a vehement outcry.

A section of Spanish politicians vigorously demands the return of the Rock to Spain, but there has been no suggestion of giving Great Britain Ceuta in return.

Gibraltar is three miles in length and varies in breadth from one-quarter to three quarters of a mile. The Rock rises to 1,400 feet and is twelve miles from the African coast. The enclosed harbor covers 440 acres.

Ceuta is situated on a promontory connected with the mainland by a narrow isthmus. The promontory terminates in a headland with seven peaks, the highest of which—one of the "Hills of Hercules"—rises 636 feet. The port is on the north side of the isthmus.

Oakland Must Go To Assembly To Get State Office

SACRAMENTO, Sep. 3.—It will be necessary to amend the Corporate Securities Act of the State of California if the wishes of the City Council of Oakland to have a branch of the State Corporation Department established in Oakland are to be carried out, according to a statement of Edwin M. Daugherty, Commissioner of Corporations, today.

Section 19 of the Corporate Securities Act specifically provides that an office of the State Corporation Department shall be maintained in Sacramento.

This section also provides that the commissioner may maintain branch offices in San Francisco and Los Angeles. There is no provision in the law giving the commissioner authority to establish other branch offices.

"This matter is one that the citizens of Oakland interested in the establishment of a branch of the State Corporation Department in that city should take up with their senators and representatives," stated Commissioner Daugherty.

"Section 19 of the Corporate Securities Act reads as follows: 'The Commissioner shall have his principal office in the city of Sacramento, and may establish branch offices in the city and county of San Francisco, and in the city of Los Angeles, and he shall from time to time obtain the necessary furniture, stationery, fuel, light, and other proper conveniences for the transaction of the business of the department; the expenses of which shall be paid out of the state treasury on the certificate of the commissioner and the warrant of the controller."

"In addition to this, state departments operate on a budget. This budget is passed by the Legislature.

There is no provision in the budget for funds to expended outside of Sacramento, San Francisco, and Los Angeles for the establishment and maintenance of offices.

"The Commissioner stated that he would be perfectly willing to establish offices anywhere the law permitted and necessity demanded, providing he could do so legally."

RICHMOND PREPARED FOR BATTLE

UNION MIDGETS
WIN 12-0 OVER
JUNIOR ELEVEN

Despite a handicap of considerable weight to buck, the 130-pound midgets of Richmond Union high school swamped the Unlimteds from Roosevelt Junior high by a score of 12 to 0 last night.

Before the game everything looked like a walk-around for Roosevelt as the huskies from the institution loomed twice the size of the tiny boys of the 130's. But from the first to the final whistle, the Union gridders charged, charged, and charged the Juniors over their feet. Never at any point of the game was there a great deal of doubt as to the final outcome.

This was the first football game seen this season in Richmond and the bleacher on the south side of Nichol field were packed with shouting, cheering followers of the respective elevens, as the embryo "four horsemen" of Union high plowed their way through a powerful line to victory.

RUTH'S FINE IS REVOKED, PLAYS
AGAIN SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The famous Ruth case remains today in the hands of the judge and jury—Miller Huggins.

The verdict will be handed down Saturday afternoon before an interested gathering of Yankee players and newspapermen. At that time Huggins will no doubt demand a formal and semi-public apology from the Babe, to follow the one that has already been made in private. If the apology is satisfactory, as it is reasonably sure to be, Ruth will be allowed to put on his uniform and play in Saturday's game against the Athletics. The $5000 fine is expected to stand temporarily, at least, as a guarantee that Ruth keeps the profuse promises he has made since he saw the light and hit the sawdust trail to baseball redemption.

Murphy Will Meet Jack
Silver

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The Fighting Son of a Fighting Father will be one of the big attractions at the big Diamond Jubilee Boxing carnival at Recreation park Monday afternoon, when Jack Dempsey, Mike Ballerino—world's champion junior lightweight—the great Clever Sencio, Lew Faluso and other topnotch fighters battle in the greatest card ever staged in the West.

Tommy Murphy, "The Jersey Lightning Rod," is the "fighting son" referred to. And the fighting father is his dad, "Kid" Murphy, who held the world's championship in the 105-pound class for years until his retirement. He fights Jack Silver, great California lightweight, in a ten round affair.

Tommy's big sensation in the lightweight ranks now, since he's grown big enough to battle in the 133 pound class, and there are thousands of fans all over the country ready to lay down their bets on him whenever he gets a chance to try for the lightweight championship.

The lad's only 20 now, but he has a great record. Starting in the 105-pound class, Murphy cleaned up that division, then fought as a flyweight bantam and featherweight as he grew, with splendid results. His record shows victories over some of the best boys in each of these classes including Babe Herman, Eddie Kid Wagner, Billy Defoe, Danny Gartin, Young Brown, Charley Manty, Danny Edwards, Pat Moore, Danney Cooney, Verne Morris and Tommy Noble, all known on the east.

HAYES, KEARNS
STILL FRIENDS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 3.—Teddy Hayes, former trainer of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion boxer, has cast his lot with Jack Kearns, he said here last night. Hayes is en route to New York where he will train Mickey Walker for his welterweight title bout with Dave Shade in New York September 21. Walker is under the management of Kearns.

Interclass Matches In

Managers for the various teams are: Beatrice Strohmaier, seniors; Mildred Wollet, juniors; Louise Kelly sophomores.

CREWS MEET TODAY

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Sept. 3.—When the University of California's tentative varsity, last year's championship freshman crew and the second varsity meet in a one-mile race tomorrow, on the Oakland estuary, Coaches Ebright and Nagler will be able to get a good line on the prospects for the coming year.

Lightweights For Labor Day Bouts

Here are two of the galaxy of world champs and near-champions who are on the notable Diamond Jubilee fight card to be held at San Francisco Labor Day. Above is Tommy Murphy, hard socking lightweight from Jersey, whom many pick to be the next lightweight champion. He's matched for a ten round go with Jack Silver (below) the speedy clever Californian, and a real battle is expected.

ROCKNE SUES TO SAVE HIS NAME

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Suit for an injunction to restrain the Audio Company from using the name of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame University coach over a series of stories on football tactics was filed in the Circuit Court here today.

The petition set forth that Rockne was approached while his squad was in California last year by a man named Simmonds, who asked permission to take pictures of the team in action for educational purposes. Rockne then charged that a series of articles based on those pictures now is being published.

Rockne is under contract to a syndicate to write and permit the use of his name over stories, the petition added.

RICHMOND HIGH
AND UNIVERSITY
GRIDDERS MEET
TO OPEN SEASONCOACH HILL PICKS ELEVEN
STARS TO REPRESENT
HIGH IN STRUGGLE

Richmond high school unlimited football squad meets University high school of Oakland in the first game of the season this afternoon at 3:45 o'clock on Nichol field.

University, defeated last year by Richmond, appears to be a much improved team this season, having several veterans and a fine array of new men. The Richmond eleven will enter the fray determined that their record of wins over the Oakland outfit shall not be broken.

Although the team is green and lacks the weight of former years, the boys are full of fight and in the past two weeks have become familiar with the finer points of attack and defense.

Although handicapped by the lack of veterans, it is felt that the spirit shown by the new men will offset this disadvantage and that after a few games the team will be on a par with those of past years.

Coach Ivan Hill picked his starting lineup yesterday. He feels as though he has selected the best eleven men of the outfit. The substitutes have not been chosen as Hill said he would have 42 men sitting on the side lines ready to go into battle at any time.

The lineup for today is Millievich, center; Caldwell and Diamantini, guards; Hutchinson and Teiner, tackles; Gray and Barstrum, ends; Baldwin, full; Woods and Holland, halves; Dalton, quarter.

Maranville Out;
Gibson Appointed
As New Manager

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Walter "Rabbit" Maranville today resigned as manager of the Chicago Nationals baseball club. George Gibson, coach of the club, was appointed acting manager for the remainder of the season.

In presenting his resignation to President Veck of the Cubs, Maranville said that he was anxious to relinquish the work as manager as he found the duties of handling the club and playing too strenuous. He will remain with the team as shortstop.

Gibson is the present coach of the club and formerly was manager of the Pirates. He came to Chicago at the start of the 1925 season.

ONE OF MICKEY WALKER'S STUNTS IN TRAINING FOR
BOUNCE WITH DAVE SHADE

Walker, king of the welter-weights, believes in varying his training work so that it does not become monotonous. He supplements his road work, bag punching, shadow-boxing and bouts with sparring partners with tree-climbing, pole-vaulting, gymnastics, court-rolling, etc. Included in the eetera is the hand-stand, as demonstrated above. This photograph was taken of Mickey preparing for his battle next month in New York with Dave Shade.

Keysto Clash
With Pabco
Nine

The fast Richmond Keys, city champions, will swing into action again Sunday afternoon at the First street ball park when they clash with the Babco Products nine of Oakland. The contest will start at 2:30 o'clock, and admission will be twenty-five cents.

The Oakland outfit comes here with an enviable record of victories registered during the summer season, and promises to give the Keys a hard battle.

Included in the Richmond lineup will be Hoyle, Neylan, O'Loan, Snowden, Greenway, Hoagland, Davis, Nemith, Poole, Watkins and Scott.

WARNER WILL FIGHT CHAMP
ON LABOR DAY

"Cowboy" Ed Warner, one of the stumbling blocks of the lesser heavyweights of the country, will meet Champion Jack Dempsey in the second two round bout at Recreation Baseball Park, Labor Day, the Mission Club announced last night.

Warner has kayo victories over Jack Roper, Goat Lavin, Eddie McGovern and numerous decisions. He fought Dempsey in Utah before Jack was champion.

Hanford—Contract awarded for widening and repairing Fresno-Coaling road near this place.

CHAMPION WILL RACE SUNDAY IN COURSING MEET

Sweet Adair, winner of last week's champion stake at the Saa Pablo coursing meet, will race against Whipping Boy on Sunday for the championship. Four other thoroughbred dogs will race in the champion stake. Elimination will be held and the best two of the day will race for the biggest event of the day.

In the Open Stake and the Park stake there are also some good animals. It is expected that ample thrill will be seen in the chase for the hares.

Following are the drawings for Sunday's races:

GODFREY, BURKE MATCHED
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—Martin Burke will box George Godfrey in the ten-round main event of Jack Doyle's Vernon arena's September 15 card. Matchmaker Hayden Wadham announced today.

Burke, in the opinion of boxing men here, will be the first opponent of recognized worth to oppose Godfrey.

Death List 14 In Shenandoah Wreck Horror As Quiz Opens

falling at a point over three miles away.

Naval Air Forces Hq.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Sailing upon the Shenandoah disaster and the failure of the California-Hawaii non-stop airplane flight, old navy officers today started a drive to discredit the navy's air forces as a means of protecting the nation.

That Secretary of the Navy, Curtis Wilbur sympathizes with these advocates of battleships of airplanes is indicated by the following statement in which he said:

"In view of the operation of the navy planes in the Arctic expedition, the failure of the Hawaiian flight planes and now the Shenandoah disaster, I have come to the conclusion that the Atlantic and the Pacific are still the best defenses."

Weather Reports Lacking
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Lack of adequate weather reports along advised by Commander Zachary Lansdowne, was the real cause of the disaster to the Shenandoah, in the opinion of meteorological experts of the navy.

Six Convicts Held For Death Trial

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 3.—The six participants in the break from San Quentin prison last month when fleeing convicts seized a launch, crossed San Francisco bay and attempted to escape into Contra Costa county hills, were held to answer to the superior court after a preliminary examination before Justice of the Peace Herbert De La Montanya.

All six, Paul Luce, Mike Wagtulech, Henry Benz, Joseph Summers, Robert Scott and Cecil Wright, will remain in San Quentin, although technically in custody they are arranged in the superior court.

Alexander Fagerstrom, captain of the launch in which the flight was made, testified that he was in his cabin below decks when the break occurred.

"I heard a commotion and went up on top," Fagerstrom said. "I was seized by two men, one with an iron bar and one with a knife, and ordered to start the engine."

Rites Today for Mrs. Mary Potter

Last rites for Mrs. Mary E. Potter, 65, resident of Richmond for four years, will be conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. C. R. G. Poole officiating. Cremation will be held in Oakland. Services will be private.

Mrs. Potter, who passed away at the home of her daughter at 409 Chanslor avenue, is survived by her daughters Mrs. Cecil Erhart, San Jose; Mrs. Pearl R. Riley, Oakland; Mrs. Hazel Simons, Richmond; a son Earl A. Potter, San Jose; and her step-children, Mrs. Laura Wright Colorado; Miss Zannette Potter of Oakland; Mrs. Amelia Hand, Los Angeles. She was also the mother of the late F. W. Potter and the stepmother of the late F. L. Potter.

Fagerstrom also told how three or four convicts had dragged in Branch Miller, murdered employee, aboard the launch, and thrown him down the hatch.

Captain of the guard, Elmer J. Hobbs, said that Benz had started the break and that it was planned by six men between 11 o'clock and the time the break occurred.

Love Rival May Be Murderer of Miss Ferguson New Find Shows

murder is as follows: Miss Ferguson was lured to some point near Alviso by another woman intensely jealous of her. The latter then struck her victim over the head with an automobile wrench, fracturing her skull. The murderer then cut off the head from the body, stripped the scalp from the skull and cut off the ears. The remainder of the body was then dismembered and taken to various places where they were thrown away in an effort of concealment.

The skull had been sawed in three parts by a saw similar to one used either by a butcher or a regular saw for cutting wood, Heinrich said. The marks of where several attempts were made to start the cuts are still evident.

The blow on the head that caused death showed on the skull to have made a fracture six inches long. This blow, officers pointed out, would not have caused death at once and it was their opinion that the body was severed in bits, while the woman was still alive, although unconscious. Immediately upon Heinrich's identification the Alameda County police took over the investigation.

It was definitely announced that a surgeon did not do the dismember-

ing. The person who did the murder knew practically nothing of anatomy, and tried open parts that could have been cut.

The skull was found under the bridge by Edward Burns, employee of a dredger near by, when the tide was lowest in several weeks.

Sharing interest with the discovery of the skull and vertebrae, were cards bearing various names and notations in the handwriting of Miss Ferguson, found late yesterday in the El Cerrito marsh.

A heap of blood stained rocks, a physician's rubber gloves and a large piece of gauze were also found. All of the articles were turned over to E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist, for examination.

Some suspicion that the cards, which bore the names of J. Loran Pease, Oakland dentist, and Dr. J. J. Moyer, Oakland physician, already mentioned in the case, had been "planted" by enemies of the two was in the minds of the investigators, they said. Heinrich also said while he had not made as yet a detailed examination of the cards that cursory examination showed they were fairly clean and not weather soiled.

Gough to Give State Evidence

Church in another department. Gough said he was 42 years of age, and that his wife Gertrude resided near Mountain View, San Mateo county. He gave his occupation as a clerk. The count on which he pleaded guilty was for the sale of fake stock to Herbert M. George for $2000.

REEVES CALLED LEADER
Gough, in his confession, stated the money obtained from investors was mostly put into a gigantic bootlegging scheme which planned the purchase of a distillery at Tijuana and a fleet of auto trucks for transporting the liquor to the United States. He named Reeves as the ring leader. Wilbur Pierce, attorney for Reeves, replied to this by declaring his client remained in Oakland to face charges while Gough disappeared.

Other defendants to be tried in connection with the swindle are L. L. Gernhardt and C. E. Spaulding, while four others, George Burnside, J. C. Coombs, Walter Moody, and W. H. Sherman, entered pleas of guilty to one charge each and were fined $500. These four were victimized themselves, believing the scheme to be legitimate, according to Warren.

first division of the school to accommodate this number.

2100 STUDENTS LIMIT
Holds pointed out that it was not practical to have more than 2400 students in the school at one time as more than that number makes school work unwieldy no matter how large the facilities may be.

It is proposed to erect the building on the property in North Twenty-third street at a cost of approximately $600,000. It is expected that it will be two years before the building will be ready for occupancy, due to unavoidable delays in voting the bonds, awarding the contracts, etc.

If the bonds are approved, $300,000 will be used for the purchase of Roosevelt Junior High school and property by the high school board from the Elementary school board, thus putting the junior high under the jurisdiction of the high school.

The money thus gained will be used to build new buildings to relieve congestion in the primary schools. A new building will be erected in Kensington park, an addition will be made to Fairmont school in El Cerrito, additions will be made to Grant and Peres schools, and a new structure will be built in the section between San Pablo avenue, and Twenty-third street, north of Macdonald avenue to take care of the children in Mira Vista.

A temporary citizen's advisory committee, to the school board was organized yesterday. H. A. Johnson president of the chamber of commerce, was chosen as temporary chairman and Guy W. Wolf secretary of the chamber as temporary secretary. This committee will meet with the board and help work out the details of preparing the bonds.
